

This website, including its content, associated mailers, and any documents or information contained herein, reflects the personal opinions and experiences of its contributors and is provided solely for informational purposes. The content should not be construed as professional financial advice, and all opinions expressed are subject to change without notice. Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd, through this platform and its associated services, does not provide personalized financial advice as defined by the Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act (FAIS) in South Africa or equivalent legislation in other jurisdictions.

General Nature of Content:

Discussions surrounding the attractiveness or risks associated with investments, securities, or financial strategies are broad and not tailored to the individual financial needs, objectives, or risk tolerances of users. This includes, but is not limited to, opinions on the valuation, current prices, or future outlook of both regulated and unregulated securities. Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd, its owners, associates, affiliates, employees, and contributors, do not assume any responsibility for individual financial decisions, nor will they be held liable for any loss, damage, or adverse financial outcomes arising from reliance on this site's content or the information it provides.

Not a Substitute for Professional Financial Advice:

Content created or shared by Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd, whether on this website, through LearnHub (our learning management system), or other associated platforms, is intended for informational and educational purposes only. Users should consult with qualified financial, tax, or legal professionals for advice specific to their financial situation. Any content provided does not replace or serve as a substitute for professional financial advice.

Paid Services and User Responsibility:

Financial Mind offers various paid services, including Courses, Webinars, Newsletters, and Updates through LearnHub and other platforms. By subscribing to these services, users gain access to educational materials that are designed to assist in financial literacy and market understanding. However, users are responsible for interpreting this information and making their own independent decisions. Financial Mind shall not be liable for any investment decisions made based on the material accessed through these services.

When you enroll in a course on LearnHub, enrollment is valid for 30 days, starting within 3 working days after purchase. Upon completion, your profile will remain active on LearnHub, allowing you to access and download certificates from past courses. No refunds will be provided once the course has started unless expressly stated in the Terms of Use.

Please note: Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd is a registered company, with company registration #: (2023 / 835778 / 07)

Accuracy and Reliability of Content:

All content is prepared with care, utilizing publicly available information and third-party opinions where applicable. Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd and its associated parties take steps to ensure accuracy but cannot guarantee that the information will be complete or free of errors. Users should be aware that market conditions change, and the opinions or data presented may no longer be valid after the content is published. Users are strongly encouraged to perform their own research and verify the accuracy of any data before making any investment decisions.

Scenario Analysis and Past Performance:

Any modelling, scenario analysis, or references to past performance—including back-testing—discussed or presented on this website, in associated mailers, or on social platforms, is not indicative of future results. Past performance should not be relied upon as a predictor of future outcomes, and users should approach any historical data with caution. All forecasts or hypothetical scenarios are speculative and subject to change based on market dynamics.

No Warranties for Platform Availability or Security:

Financial Mind does not warrant that the website, LearnHub platform, or any associated services will be available at all times or operate without interruptions. Although we make every reasonable effort to ensure the functionality and availability of our services, technical issues, maintenance, or external factors may cause temporary disruptions. We are not responsible for any interference or damage to your device resulting from the use of this website or platform. Users must ensure their devices are protected against viruses, malware, or other harmful software that may compromise security.

Intellectual Property and Fair Use:

All content on Financial Mind’s website, LearnHub, and associated mailers—including articles, webinars, graphics, charts, and documents—remains the intellectual property of Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd or its licensed contributors. Unauthorized copying, distribution, or transmission of this content is strictly prohibited. Users are granted a limited license to access and use this content for personal, non-commercial purposes. Password sharing or accessing the content from multiple devices or locations in violation of the Terms of Use may result in account termination.

Jurisdiction and Governing Law:

These disclaimers and exclusions, as well as any disputes arising from the use of this website or LearnHub, shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the Republic of South Africa. Users acknowledge that South African courts have non-exclusive jurisdiction over any legal matters related to these Terms and Conditions. If any provision of these disclaimers is found to be unlawful, void, or otherwise unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall continue in full force and effect.

Content Distribution Restrictions:

The content provided by Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd is intended primarily for a South African audience but may be accessed globally. However, we do not guarantee that the content is suitable for users in other jurisdictions or that it complies with the legal or regulatory requirements of countries outside South Africa. Distribution of content in any jurisdiction where its use is contrary to local regulations is prohibited.

User Acknowledgement:

By accessing and using this website, LearnHub, or any other service provided by Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd, users acknowledge that they are responsible for their own financial decisions. Users agree to bear full responsibility for their own research and actions, and they release Financial Mind (Pty) Ltd, its directors, employees, affiliates, and contributors from any liability for financial losses, damages, or adverse outcomes resulting from the use of information found on the platform.

In summary, Financial Mind aims to provide insightful, informative, and educational content, but users must exercise personal judgment, conduct thorough research, and consult with professional advisors where appropriate.